O Lord, in life or death I know only You.
 In lightness and darkness I recognize You alone.

O formless, You appeared in the ocean of forms.
 O embodiment of consciousness, beyond thought, You loved me.
 I am a mere bubble in Your ocean; I recognize and follow only You.

I came by Your will and float on Your waves.
 I smile by Your impetus and dance in Your light.
 My entry, stay and exit are all entranced in Your dream.
 Surrounded by that dream, I weave patterns of colorful webs.
